

art ON Istanbul will host the abstract painter Kemal Seyhan's new solo exhibition titled "BLUE and BLACK" from October 20th, 2012. The artist's paper works along with his familiar monochrome canvas will be presented in the exhibition that can be visited until November 20th.

The typical characteristic of Kemal Seyhan's canvases is the thin transparent layer made up of the coordinates of his colors and spatula marks. Similar to the cage like appearance that is the signature in his works the vertical lines on top of the horizontal lines vary in time; colors cross the limits of the system. Putting layers on top of each other gives a sense of depth to each of his works. The artist's painting technique is made up of 30 to 50 coats of paint. Kemal Seyhan's first solo exhibition at art ON Istanbul "Blue and Black" will be hosted between October 20th and November 20th, 2012.
